1. Introduction

This document describes the several references of the product by listing each reference used for the packaging, manuals and accessories.
This document does not describe:
- any production process otherwise there will be a conflict with the assembly and test process document.
- any version of the packaging, sleeves, PCB, etc… as the information must be stated in PCNs.

Simple and general description of the parts/contents can be done if there is a difference between the references.
